Wilson Frame House is located on the eastern side of Dolly Road north of Flintstone.

This building is an "L" shaped, two story, three bays wide frame house with german siding covered with insulbrick. It rests on a high foundation of random rubble with a plain water table. The gable flank roof is covered with corugated tin. Eaves consist of a cornice, soffit, and bed mould. One original corbeled brick chimney is located inside end, a replaced brick chimney is outside end.

The main entrance in the middle of the eastern facade includes a paneled one light door with original hardware. Two over two light windows are pegged and have wooden lugsills.

A hip roofed wraparound veranda on the north has four tapered square posts and some wrought iron posts. A frame addition covered with insulbrick is in the corner of the "L" shaped building. It rests on wooden posts and has a hip roof with rafter ends exposed.
